Financial viability and sustainability

This section outlines approaches to determining the financial viability of the academic programme at the Creative Academy. This is a critical component of assessing the Creative Academy programme's overall sustainability. Key to assessing the financial viability of the Creative Academy programme is to understand and outline the teaching activities and running costs required to deliver the programme.

The Creative Academy must not only cope with the present day, but also plan for the future by setting short, medium and long term plans and objectives. To help planning the Creative Academy will:

- 1 – Analyse our current status as a viable, sustainable organisation / department within Slough Borough Council and ensure these are at the forefront of all decisions made including annual financial budget setting and monthly monitoring.
- 2 - Evaluate how we will address changes facing the higher education sector and ensure financial viability and sustainability for the next decade by careful planning.

Sustainability means the ability to support and maintain, to keep something intact and functioning properly.

Creative Academy sustainability is summarised as:

Fiscal sustainability – adequacy of financial resources and the appropriate alignment of those resources – is fundamental and has always been critical in any institutional review. In a forever changing Higher Education financial environment, assurance of financial sustainability becomes even more critical. Any issues raised or recommendations, then the Creative Academy will present to the Steering Group / and or senior management. Any subsequent action plans should include targets, metrics, and timelines and agreed by the governing body.

Alignment - It is essential that resources be allocated in alignment with the Creative Academy's priorities. For the Creative Academy the top priority is student learning and success; thus resource allocation needs to support educational effectiveness, along with other activities such as enrichment and enhancement.

Forecasting - sustainability depends on the Creative Academy's ability to read the evolving higher education landscape and anticipate ways in which we may need to change. New technologies, economic pressures, public concern about the quality of learning, demographic shifts, student preparation for college, new skills and knowledge needed for success, and alternatives to traditional degrees - all these shifts and many others are rapidly transforming the social, economic, and political environment in which higher education functions.

The Creative Academy needs to continue to develop a vision of our role in the future of higher education. The choices we make in the face of these bracing conditions will influence our long-term success. The vision for the Creative Academy remains to be an affordable provider of Higher Education in dance, re-investing into the programme and a model similar to that of a not for profit organisation. The Creative Academy remain focussed on developing the next generation of dancers, choreographers, performers and teachers by delivering a programme built around industry needs ensuring positive student outcomes. The Creative Academy model of retaining small class sizes, a good student to teacher ratio, enrichment and enhancement and to remain a small provider of less than 100 students with good financial management ensures our future success.
